

Dear Julian:

I was sorry to hear about your back, and hope we can rely on your complete ~~xx~~ recovery.

You may notice that we are still at Stanford: our plans have been abbreviated and we will not be leaving until about ~~XXXX~~ May 9.

We are enough in a rush that the greatest kindness you could do, Julian, would be not to set up any engagements that might tie us down; I hope this will leave no offense among your hosts.

I am sure ~~xxxx~~ we will have an opportunity to see you informally during our visit.

We will not lack for things to do and people to see in Stockholm, but would prefer ~~xxx~~ to avoid any 'parties' as far as possible -- innocuous as is the one you propose. I do appreciate the sense of hospitality behind your suggestion.

Yours,
